Chicagoland's Hot Rod Chassis & Cycle has made a name for themselves internationally for building 1964 and older hot rods, customs, and race cars that stand out in the crowd. Owners Kevin Tully and Chad Hill, along with their talented crew, all have a passion for creating rolling works of art that not only have a unique look, but perform like a true hot rod should. Their builds have been featured in magazines such as Traditional Rod & Kulture, Rod & Custom, Hot Rod, Mopar Collector's Guide, and Powerglide (France), as well featuring Kevin as a build team member on Overhauled. The team focuses on classic styling, vintage power, and modern safety and reliability. Their proprietary rear suspensions take up residence in some of the quickest door slammers in the country. And the three builds featured above are all multiple award winners at various shows across the country.
